ART)

A diagram of a diamond-shaped structure, possibly a mechanical component or a crystal. The structure is composed of several interconnected parts, with labels indicating specific features:

- 40: Points to the overall structure.
- 41: Points to a thick, dark, elongated component on the left side.
- 42: Points to a thick, dark, elongated component on the right side.
- 43: Points to a horizontal dashed line across the middle of the structure.
- 44: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the top of the structure.
- 45: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 46: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 47: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 48: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 49: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 411: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 413: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 414: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 415: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
- 416: Points to a horizontal dashed line near the bottom of the structure.
